

I am delighted to announce significant progress made by Expro during 2007/08, demonstrating real commitment to our corporate and social responsibilities. This year saw Expro record its most successful year to date, with outstanding achievements in health and safety, combined with the delivery of a record financial performance and significant levels of investment in technology and training, ensuring our business is positioned to meet the expectations of our customers, employees and the communities in which we operate. In October 2007, our business achieved

5million man hours without a lost time incident, representing a significant milestone in our recently-implemented Excellence in Operations programme which has the delivery of world-class performances in safety, service quality and customer care at its heart. Notably, we also won the Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents oil and gas industry sector award for safety for the third year in succession, in recognition of our safety performance over the past five years, excellent health and safety processes and innovation in the training and development of our people.

As Expro's business continues to grow globally, I am proud of these achievements which display the commitment and dedication shown by our people across many countries to ensure Expro's growth takes place in a safe and responsible manner.

Developing people

- Now employ more than 4,500 people across the world
- Investment in global network of centres of excellence to enhance learning and development for employees
- Focused on a clear structure of competencies linked to employee grades and responsibility, providing clear career roadmap for employees
- Staff turnover - at 19.05% - is a priority area
- Commitment to nationalisation demonstrated by high percentage of nationals employed and receiving training on projects in key regions
- More than £2.5million invested in training for the year

Preventing harm to the environment

- Carbon footprint improvements have been realised following the introduction of the action plan developed from the Carbon Trust review in December 2006
- Achieved significant reductions in both our direct (natural gas) and indirect (grid electricity) emissions during this year. Also reduced our piped water consumption by 12%
- There have been no incidents globally resulting in harm to the environment
- We are contracted to only use recycled paper for our A3 and A4 needs, manufactured from 100% post consumer waste. All of our generated paper waste is also recycled
